b. The remaining FY88-92 New Communications Services costing sheets for the Deputy Director for Science and Technology (DDS&T) and Deputy Director for Operation (DDO) were received from the Office of Information Technology. This information is currently being entered into the Office of Communications, Management and Plans Staff's (OC-MPS) requirements tracking database. The next step is to compile this data into packages and forward the information back to the DDS&T and the DDO for their review.

c. [REDACTED] attended the fifth meeting of the Database Survivability Working Group on 16 March. Unlike the other meetings, this was a very productive session. If this trend continues, the objectives of the working group are expected to be met.
